

Dearest Ethel,

I never did thank you for coming to Brandon's school. The school nurse, teacher, coach, monitor, counselor and vice principal were very impressed by your presentation, better yet they said they understand a little more. You know as well as I that it's very complicated and while I had been trying to explain to all of them, having all of them together with your power point presentation and hands on demonstration made it all easier for them to comprehend. Thanks a million for your willingness to come on such short notice. It's great that the El Paso Diabetes Association has educators and this community service in place.

Finding yourself with a brand new nurse and teacher who have never dealt with a child with Type 1 diabetes is a very scary thing, I have immense gratitude to you and everyone at the EPDA for all you do. It also helps that you have the greatest smile and friendly disposition you are a great diabetes educator.

See 'ya,
Rose De Lara (Brandon's' Mom)
